

THE PEOPLE'S PLAN

The People's Plan, a comprehensive, multi-issue city-level policy roadmap, was created in 2020 ahead of the historic 2021 local elections through a collaborative process with over a hundred advocates representing grassroots and policy reform organizations working on critical issues across New York City. The goal of The People's Plan has been to align key racial and social justice organizations in the city around key policy campaigns and to better equip the incoming City Council with clear policy objectives to be more effective in their first term. In Fall 2021, The People's Plan engaged in a process with the Working Families Organization and our policy contributors to develop a shared policy ranking criteria and identify our priorities for the 2022 City Council session. The results are compiled in this two pager. You can see our full policy roadmap, and deeper policy analysis at peoplesplan.nyc.
